Italy Denies Slide Threat At Dam Area

Search Continuing For Bodies In Path Of Disaster Flood

BELLUNO, Italy (AP) — Authorities denied today that a huge new landslide is moving rapidly down on the Vaiont Dam reservoir.

Provincial authorities in Belluno and Italian Army officials on the shores of the reservoir said there was no new avalanche menace beyond earth slides that have been threatening since the catastrophic avalanche hit the reservoir Wednesday night.

There were reports today that the threatened landslides had started moving and that full evacuation had been ordered. But authorities denied these reports and said villagers had actually been authorized to return briefly to their homes this morning to pick up belongings.

The man who built the Vaiont Dam said today the giant barrier could still furnish electricity after repairs.

"I see no reason for not using the dam again," said Giuseppe Torno. "It's not badly damaged and can provide hydroelectric power again with repairs. With part of Mt. Toc in the middle, the reservoir will be much smaller, of course, but still very large."

Thousands of soldiers still dug in the mud for bodies, and the exact casualty toll was not known.

President Antonio Segni, touring the area Sunday, was told by Interior Minister Mariano Rumor that at least 1,809 persons were dead in Longarone and other villages below the dam.

He said at least 2,343 were presumed dead from villages around the reservoir. Rescue officials said the final figure could reach 3,000.

Torno said the fact that the dam held despite the gigantic landslide was proof of its excellence. He said that if the 873-foot-high concrete dam had given away, thousands more would have died.

Verbal Darts Tossed

GOP 'Enlivened' By Debate Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sharp exchange about debates and party unity has stepped up the tempo of the undeclared struggle for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

Sen. Barry Goldwater and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, leading prospects for the GOP nod, traded barbed comments after the New York governor called Saturday for a series of

GOP Candidate May Debate With Kennedy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., said Sunday he is "almost sure" that President Kennedy will debate the Republican nominee for the presidency in next year's election battle.

Ribicoff declined to comment at a news conference on New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's challenge to Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater for a debate between Republicans.

debates on how the party should deal with the issues of the day and the Arizona senator turned him down.

It added up to a long-distance debate about how best to unite the party for the presidential race next year.

Goldwater said that if Rockefeller had thought it through, he might have decided that intra-party debates could split the party.

Rockefeller said Sunday night that Goldwater was mistaken. He said he hoped the senator would change his mind.

Adenauer Leaves Office Tuesday, Ending An Era

BONN, Germany (AP)—Konrad Adenauer, 87, steps reluctantly out of office Tuesday after more than 14 years as the first and only chief executive of the West German Federal Republic.

The Adenauer era has brought most of this country from the depths of disaster and disgrace following World War II to strength and prosperity. But Adenauer leaves behind a lingering problem — West Germans still are separated from 17 million fellow countrymen who are under Communist rule.

Adenauer's friends say he is responsible for the strength and

Meanwhile the chairman of the Republican National Committee said he would not object if Rockefeller and Goldwater wanted to discuss differences within the party.

"I've always been of the school that the party suffers from underexposure," Rep. William E. Miller of New York said.

But Goldwater insisted that debates should be with Democrats, not with other Republicans. Rockefeller and Goldwater addressed Western Republicans gathered at Eugene, Ore., Saturday — but they did not meet. Rockefeller flew home shortly before Goldwater arrived.

Goldwater, in a Saturday night address at Eugene, said Republicans are "a party of non-conformists," but that GOP disagreements should be kept in the party arena and "not spread across the land for the opposition to see."

At another Republican meeting, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower disclaimed any "kingmaker" role at next July's San Francisco convention — and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said, "There are no contingencies under which I would become a candidate" for the GOP nomination.

Court Opens Hearing On 5 'Sit-Ins'

Appeals Launched About Civil Rights Issue In State Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court begins hearing arguments today in five sit-in cases that raise important issues of the use of state trespass laws to back up exclusion of Negroes by private businessmen.

In legal debate that will extend over most of two days, the justices consider cases from Maryland, South Carolina and Florida.

Numerous other appeals requesting review of convictions of racial demonstrators are on the docket, but action on these is expected to be deferred until the first five cases are decided.

The court faces the complex civil rights questions at the same time that Congress is considering legislation dealing with identical issues.

Last May 20 the high tribunal decided in a group of sit-in cases that demonstrators demanding service in stores and other places of public accommodation may not be arrested if a city or state makes segregation its policy by ordinance or official statements.

It did not say anything about whether a private businessman has the right to discriminate when there is no state or local segregation policy. But on the same day the justices agreed to hear this week the five cases which appear to pose this question.

Bus Crashes Into Jersey Rig, 2 Killed

KEARNA, N.J. (AP) — Two persons were killed and 20 to 25 were injured today when a Greyhound bus smashed into the rear of a tractor trailer on the fog-shrouded New Jersey Turnpike.

Police said the victims were two women who apparently were sitting at the front of the bus.

The bus was bound for New York City from Philadelphia. Its passenger capacity was 45 or 46. A state trooper described the bus as packed.

Three trucks were involved in the smashup, which occurred in the northbound lane of the superhighway just north of Newark.

The flow of northbound commuter traffic was halted for two hours, police said.

It appeared the bus struck two trucks, but the second impact was the worst.

The front of the bus was mangled and the rear was heavily damaged. Passengers were pinned in the vehicle for almost two hours.

Burglars Obtain $205 At City Dentist's Home

Burglars entered the home of Dr. F. D. Irwin on Shady-side Ave. Saturday night or early Sunday and stole $205 in currency from a dresser drawer, according to Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan.

Dr. Irwin said the family was away from home from 10:45 p.m. to 12:10 a.m.

Deputies said the intruders broke a window in a garage door to gain entrance, but were stopped by solid hardwood door into the home. They then went through a window on the northeast side of the city dentist's home.

Nothing else was taken or disturbed, the sheriff said.

Mishap At 'Super Dam'

Swept Over Dam Spillway, Garretttsville Pair Drowns

A Portage County couple was drowned Sunday morning when they abandoned their 16-foot outboard boat and were swept over a spillway 22 feet above the riverbed at the Stratton "super dam."

The victims were Jesse Eiben, 52, and his wife, Dorothy, 47, of Garretttsville near Ravenna, who had launched their craft at East Liverpool and proceeded downstream.

A witness told authorities the couple did not know they were approaching the spillway until it was too late.

PAUL SIRACKI, a neighbor of the Eibens, was following them in another boat and said he made an unsuccessful attempt to reach them.

Mr. Eiben attempted to reverse his craft when he neared the edge of the spillway near the Ohio shore. Five or 10 feet from the dam's edge, the boat motor apparently stalled, and the couple panicked.

"Their boat swung sideways," Siracki said. "The Eibens got excited and jumped into the water above the dam. The boat went over and they followed it."

FOUR MEN on duty at the dam learned of the drowning when Siracki docked his boat and shouted for help. Two workmen set out in another craft and found the bodies within 15 minutes 400 feet below the dam.

"Apparently the Eibens didn't know that the piers above the dam were not a bridge but were used to house cranes and equipment for the dam," said Henry S. Conway, lockmaster.

He said he understood the Eibens were on their first river trip in the area.

SQUIRE John D. Herron of New Cumberland, Hancock

County coroner, ruled accidental death. He said the couple was not wearing life jackets.

Herron said he could not verify reports that the couple mistook the superstructure over the dam for a railroad bridge and planned to pass under it and continue down the river.

There are 11 lifts at the dam, but only one nearest the Ohio shore was open at the time.

THE COUPLE leaped into the river at a point where the water is 30 feet deep, and the current carried them and their boat over the spillway. The boat remained upright in the water.

The coroner said the accident happened at 11:40 a.m. Sunday.

There were reports that a pet dog of the couple escaped the drowning tragedy, but Herron said he had not received any such information.

Kilns Fired After Picket March Ends

Master Shop Group Slates New Meeting Of Newell Workers

Production slowly was getting back to normal today at three dinnerware plants, but a wildcat work stoppage continued this morning at the Homer Laughlin China Co., where only a handful of employees reported for work.

Workers at the Hall China Co., Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co. and Harker China Co. went back to their jobs today after being idled since Thursday morning by the work stoppage which erupted originally at Laughlin's on Sept. 27.

Officials of the three dinnerware plants said all workers reported to their jobs this morning, with production expected to be back to normal as soon as temperatures can be built up in the kilns.

But a spokesman said "no more than 20" reported for work at Laughlin's this morning despite assurances yesterday afternoon from the master shop committee that all were to return to work today.

Because of the continued stoppage, the master shop committee has called a meeting of all Laughlin employees for 1 p.m. to again thresh out the dispute, a spokesman said.

At a general meeting Sunday afternoon called by the master shop committee, members of Local 141, in which the dispute erupted originally, agreed to remove pickets from the Ohio ends of the Chester and Newell bridges and the master shop committee issued an announcement for all Laughlin employees to return to work today.

The back-to-work move at the three plants means that approximately 1,100 potters are on the

Ohio Power's Crew Honors Picket Lines

Some 25 to 30 employees of the Ohio Power Co. were idled this morning when they refused to cross a picket line thrown up at the company's office by Local 93, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, protesting work being done on the city's new street lighting system by non-union workmen.

The Ohio Power Co. crews, members of IBEW Local 696 of Bellaire, refused to cross the picket lines, idling the line trucks.

Five employees of the Hoosier Engineering Co., a subcontractor which performs distribution work for the utility, also halted work because of the picket line.

However, a company spokesman said he understood the Plate Excavating Co. of Wellsville, around whom the dispute evolves, continued work today installing the bases and ground wires for the new light standards.

Frank Mitcheson Jr., a member of the Executive Board of Local 93, said Plate is using non-union workmen at a rate of $2 an hour.

The whole job belongs to the union, which has jurisdiction to perform both inside and outside electrical work, Mitcheson said.

He said the American Line Builders Association agreement provides for work to be done by the IBEW.

"This is our livelihood and we have qualified men to do the job," he added.

A company spokesman had no comment other than to say no meetings have been scheduled to iron out the dispute.

Easier Reading

Larger Type Provides 'New Look'

NEW YORK (AP) — If you are reading this news story with more ease than you looked over your favorite newspaper last week, you can thank your newspaper and its wire service.

Starting today, The Associated Press has made it possible for your newspaper to deliver its news stories to you in larger type.

And, larger type means more legibility and hence easier reading.

This news story, along with many others in this newspaper with state, national and international datelines, identified by the credit line "The Associated Press," or "AP," were delivered for publication over a communications system that provides perforated tape for the composition of type from which newspapers are printed.

The system is known as an automatic type-casting device. Oversimplifying a somewhat technical subject, it works like this:

An operator at a central news service location operates a keyboard that produces perforated paper tape. This tape, fed into a leased wire telegraph system, is reproduced automatically at newspapers participating in this service. This reproduced tape, in turn fed through typesetting machines automatically produces lines of type — such as these you are reading.

Until recently there were limitations on the size—that is, both the width and height — of type that could be used. The average size for a newspaper column slightly less than two inches was what is known in the newspaper business as eight point. That's a typographical measurement, meaning in lay language about one-ninth of an inch. There are 72 typographical points in an inch.

Recent developments, in which the American Newspaper Publishers Association and various graphic arts equipment manufacturers cooperated, made it possible for this type size—newspapermen and print-

Fred Korth Quits Post As Secretary Of Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth, who last week protested a tentative Pentagon decision to deny the Navy more nuclear-powered aircraft carriers, is resigning and will be succeeded by Paul Nitze, now an assistant secretary of defense.

The White House announced today that President Kennedy accepted Korth's resignation on Saturday. The resignation will take effect Nov. 1.

Stoppage Continues

Picketing that began Friday afternoon continued today in front of the Mackintosh-Hemp-hill Division of the E. W. Bliss Co. at Midland. About 300 employees are affected. Another meeting was set today at Pittsburgh between the management, Steelworkers Local 1269 and a Pittsburgh local.

The horse owned by James Ray of New Waterford R. D. was killed Sunday at 9:35 p. m. when it ran into the path of a car driven by Richard C. Russell, 20, of Lisbon R. D. 5 on Route 558 three-tenths of a mile west of Route 46, officers said.

A car driven by Donald R.

Bell, 34, of Washingtonville hit the rear of a motor scooter driven by Claude Sunderman Jr., 16, of Washingtonville Sunday at 6:05 p. m. on County Rd. 416 just north of Leetonia.

MINOR DAMAGE resulted to the scooter. Bell was arrested for speed in excess of conditions, officers said.

In the weekend crashes, five were cited and three were hurt slightly.

A car driven by Nancy Martin, 16, of Minerva went off Township Rd. 701 just north of Route 30 Sunday at 3:20 p. m. officers said. The car struck a fence and a tree. She was not cited.

Cars driven by Carl P. Kortman, 46, of Beaver Falls and Ralph E. Coblenz, 18, of East Palestine R. D. 1 were involved in a collision Sunday night 7:15 at the intersection of Routes 14 and 170.

COBLENZ pulled onto Route 14 into the path of the Kortman car, officers said. Coblenz was arrested for failure to yield the right-of-way.

center after a one-car crash Sunday at 8:30 a. m. on Township Rd. 1044 just about a mile west of the Pennsylvania state line.

He was headed west when he failed to make a curve, went off the left side of the road and rammed a tree, officers said. He was not hurt.

Georgian Dicken, 22, of New Waterford suffered abrasions of the left knee in a one-car crash Saturday at 4 p. m. on Route 14 almost two miles east of Washingtonville.

SHE STARTED to pass two cars when she went off the left side and overturned, officers said. She was not cited.

Two were injured slightly in another one-car crash Saturday at 6:25 p. m. on Route 164 eight-tenths a mile south of Lisbon.

William F. Kempf, 20, of Salineville was headed north when he went off the right side of the highway and struck concrete steps on a walkway at the home of Willis Doyle of Lisbon R. D. 1.

The car overturned after hitting the steps, officers said. It was heavily damaged.

Kempf had a bump on the head and lacerations of the left leg. A passenger, Gary Baker, 24, of Negley, suffered multiple contusions of the body. They were not treated.

KEMPF was cited for speed in excess of conditions, the patrol reported.

Victor Persley, 40, of Mayfield Heights escaped injury when his car hit a mailbox along Route 30 almost two miles south of Route 45 Saturday at 6:20 p. m. Persley was headed south when he came upon an unknown car stopping. He swerved right and went off the road. He was not cited.

job, but 1,400 still are idle at Laughlin's.

A company spokesman said he understood, however, that Local 141 later held a separate meeting and decided picketing would continue.

Many employees turned out at the Newell plant this morning but only about 20 reported to their jobs, the spokesman said.

He estimated employees have lost about $200,000 in wages since the dispute started.

A spokesman for Harker's said he understood the plant's master shop committee voted unanimously yesterday for employees to return to work.

Approximately 20 women in the color department worked Saturday, he added.

The spokesman said a charge filed by the company Thursday with the Pittsburgh office of the National Labor Relations Board remains in effect. The charge alleging Local 141 is engaged in an illegal secondary boycott by picketing plants not directly involved in the disagreement may be withdrawn if there is no further work interruption, he added.

A spokesman for TST, which joined with Harker's in filing the charge, had no comment on what action his company would take.

Grabbing brakes were blamed for a crash at W. 6th and Jackson Sts. Saturday at 7:42 p. m. that damaged a 1957 two-door sedan driven by Edwin H. Mattern, 17, of Lisbon R. D. 5 and a 1957 four-door sedan operated by Leroy Martin, 38, of 1025 Ephraim St., officers said.

Mattern told police he slowed as he approached the intersection and his brakes grabbed, throwing his car to the left into the Martin auto, which was in the adjoining lane.

Hag-Ridden By Politics

Some of the finest people we've ever known have worked and are working now for the Ohio Department of Highways. We want to make this plain before commenting on the latest "Little Hoover" commission observation that the department needs a shakeup. It is not the personnel who are at fault. It is the fact the Ohio Department of Highways has been hag-ridden by politics since the memory of Buckeyes runneth not to the contrary. It is the fact this free-spending, heavy-hiring department is a ready-made political apparatus, useful for patronage-dispensing and public influence. It is the established practice in the state to bestow highway construction money on a squeaking-wheel basis — not infrequently where the administration that controls the pursestrings figures it needs to build the fanciest fences for the next election. IN EVERY campaign there arises sooner or later a scandal about misuse of highway personnel and equipment for partisan purposes. In every division throughout the state there is at least one political officer — a "party commissar," American style. This functionary knows nothing about highways, but he's a whiz at politics. The "Little Hoover" commission report says more than $15 1/2 million could be saved if this and some other bazz-fazz were taken out of Ohio highway activity and hints that incalculable increases of benefits would accrue to taxpayers of Ohio if the department were shaken up thoroughly. No one who knows what happens will question this. But on the other hand, no one who knows why it happens will feel optimistic about reform. Both parties have milked the Department of Highways like a political cow. They have put key jobs on a patronage basis. They have levied on the payroll for campaign funds. They would regard reform as akin to signing away their right to breathe in and out. To suggest that it could be done by executive order and requires no new laws is like telling rabbits to swear off lettuce and carrots. IT IS fascinating to dream about what could be done if all Ohio highways were planned, built and maintained by highway engineers — no politics in any way, shape, or form. It might happen someday. Rabbits might give up lettuce and carrots someday too — but they'll never do it voluntarily. Someone will have to build a fence around the goodies and keep the gate shut.

New Look In The Chancellories

Konrad Adenauer's departure from responsibility had been expected, and Harold Macmillan's was a surprise. One day soon — and perhaps sooner than anyone might guess — there will be a new look in all the old chancellories. Nikita Khrushchev and Charles de Gaulle will depart. They will join the lengthening list of personalities who dominated international affairs in the years after World War II — the men who played the power-balancing game with our own John Foster Dulles — the men who knew "Ike." Adenauer's successor, Ludwig Erhard, was a professor in the School of Economics at Munich University when U.S. occupation forces hired him to reform Germany's war-battered currency. His vigor and intelligence are credited with West Germany's amazing industrial comeback. He is not a politician, and this may be a handicap in a nation that has known, only one chancellor. But on the other hand the former vice chancellor and minister of economics has a refreshing sense of proportion, which was not true of his former chief. If his countrymen develop a similar appreciation of their place in the postwar world, his chancellorship can be long and happy. And what is the place of West Germans in the postwar world? To prove beyond doubt that West Germany can be trusted to use its new strength for the benefit and not the detriment of Europe and the Western World; that the Western Allies made no mistake in not plowing it under, as was suggested while the outcome of World War II still hung in the balance.

Operating At Profit

WASHINGTON The American citizen is wrong if he thinks his government never does anything but tax and tax, spend and spend. There's one federal outfit that actually operates at a profit, bringing in the cash from happy, satisfied customers. It's the Philatelic Sales Agency in the Post Office Department, which sell more than $3-million worth of stamps to collectors each year. The agency points out, in a pretty well-satisfied way: "STAMPS sold for philatelic purposes are not used for postage and the government is not called upon to perform any service, making the sale of these issues a profitable operation for the Post Office Department." This is an appropriate time to consider the operations of the agency, since its newest commemorative stamp, honoring Eleanor Roosevelt, is being issued today at a White House ceremony. One hundred and thirty million of these Mrs. Roosevelt stamps, five cents each, are being printed. Most, of course, will be used on regular mail but many will be hoarded by collectors and never "cashed."

COLLECTORS have a particular liking for commemorative stamps. They are rarer than regular issues and many of them are interesting works of art. Some, it must be admitted, are pretty dowdy. Commemoratives were first issued in connection with the Chicago World's Fair in

Letter From Max

Dear Truman Twill: Very funny to read about the surprise of the language experts when they discovered a tribe in which the men and women speak different languages. They could have found that right in their own homes. President Kennedy sure worked both sides of the street when he dedicated that dam in California. He was talking about water, but the name of the place was Whiskeytown. Not being one, I might as well tread where angels fear to and offer this tip to the ladies: Men shavers learned long ago that a dull razor causes more cuts than a sharp razor. Speaking of beats and beatniks, it is not generally known that the origin of beats is the word "beatific," which the dictionary defines as "imparting or manifesting bliss or joy." The "nik" part was added by scornful conformists, such as you and I, who are unblissful and unjoyous.

It has been saddened in recent years to hear about how a blight has killed almost all hickory trees and pleasant to get a small bag of the nuts gathered in a woods as evidence that the trees aren't all gone yet. There is nothing like cracking hickory nuts to take your mind off the big issues of the day, such as the moon race and the national debt. If you are the perfectionist type, you can try getting the kernel out whole from a cracked shell. And if you claim you can average more than one intact kernel out of a dozen or two nuts, your veracity is open to question. You probably have seen these new "pressies" about linking reporters names with My idea of a strong character is someone who can resist such reading. Faithfully yours, MAX

According to authority, the ability to be hypnotized does not imply any weakness of the will, or of the intelligence. As a matter of fact, the only people who definitely cannot be hypnotized are the very feeble-minded, who cannot be made to understand, and those psychotic patients who are so sick and excited that they cannot be brought to co-operate. One early-day superstition called for the bathing of one's eyes with the first snowfall in March — it being thought that this was conducive to clear sight.

Solid Foundation

Red China Eyes Go-It-Alone Policy

West Ponders Moscow-Peking Bickering

LONDON — Heal the rift, or go it alone? This, reading between the lines of the official Peking press, is the hot question now under debate among the leaders of Communist China. The outcome, likely to emerge in the next few months, is being watched closely by Western diplomats as the Sino-Soviet dispute enters its fifth year of frigid and wordy bickering. Following catastrophic attempts at healing the four-year breach earlier this year, both the Soviet Union and China are loosely committed to another crack at reconciliation some time next year, probably early in international Communism's conference "season" after Easter. If, at last, a strong enough formula is discovered to paper over the Peking-Moscow crack—now of canyon-like proportions—the world balance of tensions, recently slackened by the East-West test ban treaty may be radically altered again. Significantly, despite mounting acrimony in Sino-Soviet diplomatic exchanges—over border incidents and other alleged provocations—the highest echelons of official China seem to be calling a pause for thought, among Asian audiences at least.

CHINESE HEAD of state Liu Shao-Chi, who late last month stomped cheerfully round allied North Korea, spoke publicly with no notable restraint and avoided all direct references to Mr. Khrushchev and the intra-Communist squabble. The reason for the high-level pause, which may soon lead, at least for a while, to a softer tone in exchanges with Russia, is clear enough. China, despite some recovery since industrial and then agricultural disasters between 1956 and 1961, and proclamations that she must rely on internal resources alone, must soon seek a way out of the isolations into which the long quarrel with Moscow has thrown her. Economically, China's substantial cut-off since 1960 from European Communist aid and supplies has, as Peking has publicly admitted, done immense damage—and, within the limits of trading with any Communist country, presented the West with a 700-million-strong market for the plucking. Reports within recent weeks of China's agricultural prospects and explosive population outlook make it abundantly clear that she cannot possibly feed herself without massive outside aid in the foreseeable future. Big purchases of grain from Australia, Canada and France in the last two years are a sign, according to some of the most reliable analysts, less of famine crises than of China's awareness of her inherent inability to make domestic food supplies catch up with the soaring number of mouths to be fed. POLITICALLY, the four-year division between the two "Great Flowers" of Communism—as leader Mo Tse-tung put it a year or two back—presents the West with more uncertainties and hazards. It's arguable that Communism—by definition bent on world supremacy—is better divided. But an increasing number of Western diplomats seem to be arguing on the lines of, better one devil you know than two you are uncertain of. This is the argument at the back of most Western and neutralist pressure to get the Chinese seated alongside the Russians at the United Nations. In the meantime, the bifurcation of the Communist world seems unlikely to make the task of the West in stemming Communism any easier. The division probably means that Moscow and Peking will merely mark out spheres of the world for "treatment"—with the Chinese, though concentrating on subverting Asia to Marxist-Leninism, overlapping with the Soviets in areas like Africa and Latin America. The chances of the rift being healed in the immediate future, though not firmly predictable, seem on the face of it fairly remote. The quarrel is almost certainly based as much on old events and old grievances before it became known to the world in 1960 as on the question of the means of world Communist conquest, now the issue at stake.

THE ISSUE, which first became public at a Moscow conference of all Communist parties three years ago, is whether war with imperialism is a prerequisite of total Communist victory. The Chinese line, nurtured on a tough Bolshevism which is itself a product less of Marx than a hard Oriental fatalism, is that a shooting war must come sooner or later. Since the death of Stalin in 1952, the Soviet line has been that Communism will triumph because of its inherent social and economic superiority to all other systems, and it will do so through peaceful coexistence and competition. The widening dissension on this point had already been hinted at in 1959 when Mr. Khrushchev, visiting Peking for the tenth anniversary of the Chinese Communist revolution, read a lecture to his hosts on the wrong-headedness of the use of force at a time when the balance of world power seemed to be moving in favor of "socialism." It has already been foreshadowed in China itself as early as 1956, when there seems to have been an extensive purge of "right-wing" anti-Stalinists of a similar persuasion to Mr. Khrushchev. Despite the wordy, sketchy character of the ideological conference in Moscow in 1960 which brought the whole affair to a head, there is little doubt that its subsequent practical effects have been dramatic. Soviet technicians were soon either withdrawn or expelled from China, aid from Moscow was stopped and trade between the two countries slumped. Total trade turnover, nearly 1,850 million rubles in 1959, dropped to less than 1,500 million rubles by the end of 1960, to 827 million by 1961 and (a significant slowing of the decline) to only 675 million rubles last year.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO—Two groups of the Kings Heralds' Class were organized in the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Episcopal Church by Miss Helen Reed. An address by Emmitt J. Gaston, clerk of the Board of Education, featured a meeting of the Staggs Hi-Y Club, with Robert Stewart president. TWENTY YEARS AGO — Tech. Sgt. Paul F. Katz of Center St., Wellsville, was awarded the Purple Heart and the Air Medal for wounds received in action over Tunisia. Miss Jacqueline Couch, 2702 St. Clair Ave., enrolled as a freshman at Westminster College at New Wilmington, majoring in biology. TEN YEARS AGO — State rehabilitation funds of $28,800 were accepted by the Wellsville Board of Education for the $600,000 school building program. Robert Glenn was named scoutmaster of a new Boy Scout Troop of the Glenmoor district. Mrs. Harold Gilmore of East Liverpool described arrangements of fall flowers at a meeting of the Chester Women's Club.

A Canny Kennedy

By David Lawrence

President Again Reveals Political Wisdom

Whenever President Kennedy completes his government service, he can certainly expect to get a fruitful job as a political writer. It would not be based solely on his prestige as a former president but also on his astute knowledge of political trends and fundamentals.

Mr. Kennedy David Lawrence gave a good illustration of his perspicacity at his recent news conference when he placed in proper perspective all the current talk about the outcome of the 1964 election.

The President put his finger on something which is too often overlooked — the difference between the seeming personal popularity of a candidate and his real popularity based on actual achievements in public office. It doesn't follow that a man who is well-liked or makes a spectacular campaign will necessarily win. In 1920, for instance, the Democratic nominee, James M. Cox — who had served as governor of Ohio for three terms — was an excellent public speaker and made a good appearance on the stump. In fact, he campaigned from coast to coast while his Republican opponent, Sen. Warren G. Harding, spoke from the front porch of his home in Marion, Ohio, and left his residence only two or three times for one-day trips to make speeches. Yet Mr. Harding won an overwhelming victory.

THE LESSON of that campaign has been emphasized often since — that economic conditions are paramount. Such issues are reflected as the people vote against an administration or party in power. They did this in 1920 when they voted their resentment against a disrupted economy and blamed the Democratic administration for entering World War I after having won the 1916 campaign on a platform of "peace and prosperity." The same thing — economic discontent — caused the Hoover defeat in 1932. President Kennedy rightly stresses the peace issue as well as the economic issue and wisely points out that it will be easier to judge the outcome of the next presidential campaign in the summer and autumn of 1964 than it is today. He said to his news conference: "I think we ought to make a judgment on that in 1964... A lot of these matters we will have to decide — whether the United States is better off economically than it was before, and whether our position in the world has improved, and whether our prospects for peace are greater, and whether our defenses are stronger, and whether we are making progress at home and abroad. "That is a matter which, it seems to me, will be argued very strongly in '64. For example, we can't make a judgment about the state of the economy in '64. I think if they pass our tax bill, we are going to be able to demonstrate a very successful, buoyant economy for a period of four years. If they do not, we will have a different situation. "I cannot tell what our relations will be in Southeast Asia a year from now. I know what results our policy is attempting to bring. But I think that result ought to be judged in the summer of '64 and the fall of '64, and I have hopes that the judgment will be that the economy is moving ahead..."

WHAT THE PRESIDENT said is a sound analysis of the present situation. The same yardstick has been applied again and again in the past by this correspondent in evaluating public sentiment and in predicting the outcome of presidential campaigns.

Mr. Kennedy is well aware that employment and business are not booming in all areas today and that, in some of the pivotal states, emotional issues — such as the race controversy — as well as pocketbook issues may cause him to lose electoral votes. That's why he said candidly: "I would say we are going to have a hard, close fight in 1964, but that has been my impression for a good many months." Mr. Kennedy also said that he believes Sen. Goldwater could win the Republican presidential nomination, but that the Arizona senator "has a long road to go" and has a "trying seven or eight months which will test his endurance and his perseverance and his agility." There always is a chance that a slip of the tongue may turn the tide against any candidate in either party.

Newspaper Week Again

Re-Dedication Made To Public Service

Every industry or business or profession that has a history celebrates a "week" each year. That includes newspapers. The "week" we celebrate — National Newspaper Week, Oct. 13-19 — is here again. It gives us an excuse to blow our horn. We don't ordinarily do this, because we figure our readers are interested only in the services we perform for them and how we satisfy them, not in our particular problems and headaches and the struggle to meet daily deadlines. We have these problems and headaches and struggles, just as any other business or industry or profession or individual has. The effort to overcome them is immensely worthwhile and satisfying if we achieve our goal of serving our readers and our community. WE DO A great many things in our effort to serve. We provide, first of all, the news of all important events, local and national and worldwide, which are of interest to our readers. In one way or another we help to shape the lives of the people who depend on newspapers for information. We provide entertainment and advice and pictures — some simply illustrative, some eye-catching, some just because they're pretty. We offer the best medium ever invented for an individual or a business to tell every other individual in the community what goods or products or services are available for sale. There is no other place where an advertiser, big or little, can tell so many people for so little what is available for people to buy. WE DO OUR BEST to assist in promotion of worthwhile things in our community. We support good schools, good government, the churches, welfare and character-building organizations, all the good things about teen-agers, the arts, public health, clean sports, good transportation, sound community development. We do not do these things alone. We only assist others who do them, or others must assist us. We are grateful for the splendid cooperation of a great many individuals and organizations — individuals such as public officials who provide us with facts and plans. It's a two-way street there, the individuals serve us with their information, we serve them by providing a medium of making their information known to their constituents. WE PROVIDE an important portion of the local economy, with over a hundred employees earning wages and salaries, and we buy materials and pay taxes, local, state and federal. We contribute to the livelihood of the people who retail our product. Most important among these is a veritable army of newspaperboys who deliver the paper to the homes of their customers. These are the famous "little merchants" who buy newspapers from us wholesale and retail them to customers. Next Saturday will be their specific "day" — National Newspaperboy Day — and we'll be proud to help them celebrate it. IN ORDER to provide the most important part of our services — reporting the news — we, along with all other publishers of the printed word, have been guaranteed in the U.S. Constitution the freedom of the press. That means the guarantee of the public's right to know. Freedom of the press gives us no license to be selfish or irresponsible or run roughshod over the public. It simply guarantees the right to publish news and opinion without fear of restrictive legislation, so the public can have the right to know what's going on. It's the only way the public can decide what's right and what's wrong, what's good and what's bad, how the majority wants to vote in elections. We are proud to be able to serve our community. That's why we welcome the opportunity, once a year, to celebrate National Newspaper Week.

5-Hour Battle Required For Brush Blazes

Like other area fire departments, city firemen spent more than five hours Sunday fighting brush fires as a continued dry spell increased the danger.

Firemen spent virtually four hours combatting a new outbreak of a brush fire on Shive's Hill which flared again yesterday afternoon.

The new brush fire may have been set, firemen said, explaining the fire was doused thoroughly last week when thousands of gallons of water were poured on the North Side area blaze.

The department received a call at 2:04 p. m. that the hillside was on fire again. The North Side truck responded and remained at the scene for 74 minutes.

Firemen were called back at 5:55 p. m. and fought the fire until 8:41 p. m., using a line from a Maine Blvd. hydrant to again soak the area.

The department also battled a new brush fire off Sunnyside Ave. for 81 minutes yesterday morning.

Sparks from a passing freight train may have caused a grass fire in Jethro Hollow below the Wellsville Rd. Saturday night, firemen said. They spent 50 minutes in quelling the fire.

Firemen also were called to Oliver St. at 6:22 p. m., spending 30 minutes extinguishing a brush fire.

The department was called at 11:25 a. m. yesterday to Iris Ave. to check the home owned by Floyd Tweed of E. 3rd St. after the retired fireman had extinguished a fire.

Firemen said Tweed was checking for a gas leak when the gas ignited from a match. After quelling the fire, he called firemen to continue the check.

Mishaps Hurt 7 From Area

Three hurt in falls, three injured while playing football and a youth who stepped on a nail were treated Sunday at City Hospital.

Richard R. Grills II, 17, son of Richard Grills, 504 Aten Ave., injured his right ankle while playing football.

John Connell, 11, son of John Connell, 311 Washington St., fractured his wrist playing football.

Luther Jackson Jr., 6, son of Luther Jackson of Wellsville R. D. 1, suffered a deep laceration of the right knee when he fell while playing.

John Robbins, 3, son of Joseph Robbins, 1586 Grove St., suffered a head injury in a fall.

Tracey Andrews, 3, daughter of Floyd Andrews, 2111 Chester Ave., Wellsville, cut her scalp when she fell from a bicycle.

Peter Burnett, 16, son of Dr. Melbourne P. Burnett of Skyview Manor, suffered a puncture wound of the left foot when he stepped on a nail.

Fire At Dump Quelled

LISBON — Village firemen were called to a dump fire about two and a half miles southeast Sunday at 7:30 p. m. No damage was reported to the dump, but the fire caused smoke to hang over the entire area before it was extinguished.

Burglars Get Tires, Radio

Two auto tires and a transistor radio comprised the principal items of loot in burglaries at two East Liverpool homes over the weekend, police reported.

Mrs. Edith Mae Chrest, 737 Chester Ave., told police intruders entered her home via an unlocked cellar door sometime between 8:30 p. m. Wednesday and 11:30 a. m. Sunday, taking two 7.50-x-14 tires.

Paul Shuman, 937 St. George St., reported his home was entered via an unlocked door while the family was absent between 7:05 and 9 p. m. Saturday. The intruder took a transistor radio and a carton of cigarettes, he reported. A diamond ring also was included at first in the list of loot, but the family advised police at 4:30 p. m. yesterday the ring had been found.

Another theft and two cases of vandalism also were reported to officers.

Harry Early, 830 Smithfield St., told police a battery valued at $22 was stolen from his auto while it was parked on Walnut St. between 7 and 9 p. m. Sunday.

Two 24-x-16 - inch windows were broken out of an Ohio

Bell Telephone Co. booth on Mulberry St. near Locust St. between 2 and 2:18 a. m. today, officers said. The damage was discovered by Patrolman Paul A. Burson.

Kenneth Talbott, 1623 Cleveland Ave., told officers a vandal smeared filth on the rear window of his 1957 model convertible while it was parked in his garage Saturday night or early Sunday.

South Side Auxiliary Signs 2 As Members

Miss Sue Wells and Mrs. Margaret Crouch were admitted as members Friday night at the meeting of the auxiliary, of South Side American Legion Post 952. Eighteen were present.

Plans were completed for a joint legion and auxiliary Halloween party for community children Oct. 25 at 7:30 p. m. in the legion hall.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Alice Rardin, past president, and closed by Mrs. Ann Cooper, president.

At the Junior Legions' meeting earlier in the week, Deloris Rommes was elected chairman. Cynthia Rardin was named vice-chairman; Mary Lee Rardin, secretary; Karen Scott, treasurer; Bonnie Travers, historian; Marilyn Campbell, chaplain, and Sandra Rardin, sergeant-at-arms. New officers will be installed Nov. 4.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Body Make-Up Determines Requirements

"Isn't it true that the little woman with the apple dumpling round figure is just naturally fat and gains far more easily than others do?" This wistful query from a home-maker is asked rather frequently.

The answer is undeniably yes. Body build and shape are both influencing factors in one's fuel requirements for they determine the amount of surface area in proportion to the amount of body tissue.

FOR EXAMPLE, take the familiar figures of Jack Sprat and his wife. Since Jack could eat no fat, and his wife could eat no lean, she got the heavy end of the calories. It was Jack who needed the lion's share, for he was tall and thin while Mrs. Sprat was half his height and appears to be twice as fat.

Dr. L. Jean Bogert, nutrition scientist and author of "Nutrition and Physical Fitness," explains: "A tall, thin person possesses about one and one-half times as much surface area as a short, fat person of the same body weight. Since heat loss is through the surface, the body with a large amount of surface must generate more heat to maintain its normal temperature than one with a relatively smaller surface exposure."

Unhappily, the more you weigh for your height, the less your fuel requirements. In the short, overweight person all the factors act to depress fuel or calorie requirements. You have less active tissue (glands and muscle) and more inactive tissue (fat). Less surface area in proportion to your weight. A thicker layer of fat which acts as insulation.

IF YOU ARE short - changed on calorie requirements, look for bargain calories. The protective foods are not the weight makers. To keep nutrients high, get your satisfaction from the main course of the meal...the meat, vegetable, salad course. Trim off fats and skip rich desserts. By this plan you "slim" your food habits.

Keep your muscles in good tone with a brisk daily walk. As Dr. Ruth Leverton expressed it: "The muscle that is sort of snoozing along doesn't use as much oxygen as the muscle that has greater turgor."

Count your blessings, too! With your nerves well padded, you have a genial disposition, seldom get ruffled, and you are a positive joy to live with.

Liquor Law Restricts Pennsylvania Minors

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Pennsylvania's newest law restricting drinking by minors in the state goes into effect today.

The act, passed by the 1963 General Assembly, makes it illegal for minors "to attempt to purchase, to consume, possess or transport alcohol, liquor or malt or brewed beverages."

It provides as a penalty from $25 to $100 in a fine or 30 days in jail, or both.

Previously, the only law regulating drinking by persons under 21 in Pennsylvania made it illegal for a minor to misrepresent his age for the purpose of obtaining liquor or beer.

Want a gem that captures all the glorious autumn colors? Then stop in and see our collection of lovely opals. Prices are quite reasonable for this jewel which is classed as one of our phenomenal gems.

During the ancient times, the opal was considered the symbol of hope and good fortune. Roman generals carried opal-topped staves into battle to assure them of success in their campaigns. Mark Anthony saw an exceptional opal worn by a Roman Senator, and decided it would be an appropriate gift for Cleopatra, but when the Senator refused to part with it, Antony banished him from Rome.

There are three varieties of opals — white, black, and the Mexican or "fire" opal. Most important as gems, are the white and black varieties. The term "black" is somewhat of a misnomer, for it refers to the play of colors against a dark, rather than a white background. The play of fire shows up well in darker opals, and it is the number of colors visible that affects the value of these stones.

Like pearls, which are organic, your opals should receive reasonable care and proper setting to afford many years of wear. In terms of pleasure, there is nothing more beautiful than a fine opal worn in a pin or pendant nor a more versatile and pleasing choice to mate with fashion's many fall colors. And if you are one of the lucky ones celebrating a birthday this month, remember that the opal has been recognized by the American Gem Society as the proper birthstone for October, which is certainly one more reason to own and wear this lovely jewel.

Workshop Set To Explain New Mental Health Clinic

A workshop program has been scheduled Friday, Nov. 15, at 1:45 p. m. at Westgate School by the County Mental Health Association to inform the public of the facilities of the new Mental Health Clinic scheduled to open soon to Lisbon.

Dr. Paul Beaver of Leetonia, president of the County association, has appointed Mrs. Lilyan Alpern, director, and the Rev. Russell Mase of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church as co-chairmen of the workshop.

The program will be open to administrators, school personnel, the medical, dental and nursing professions, attorneys, law enforcement officials, ministerial associations, the laity and anyone interested in mental health, according to Mrs. Alpern.

School Supt. Paul Blair is co-operating in the planning for the workshop. Local school personnel who will assist will be named later.

Sponsors said all county schools will be closed at 1 p. m. Nov. 15 in order to allow personnel to attend the workshop at Westgate Junior High.

Members of the Board of Directors serving on the committee planning the workshop include Mrs. J. D. Thompson, immediate past president; Dr. Cornell Monda, school psychologist, and Mrs. Marie Hays and Mrs. Lawrence Black.

The keynote address will be given by Dr. O. Spurgeon English, professor and head of the department of psychiatry at Temple University Medical Center in Philadelphia.

Widely known as a lecturer and writer, Dr. English's publications include: "Emotional Problems of Living," "Fathers are Parents, Too," "Psychosomatic Medicine," "Introduction to Psychiatry" and "Direct Analysis and Schizophrenia."

The address will be followed by a four - division panel discussion. The participants will include Dr. English and Dr. Jakobs Knezniskis, psychiatrist and head of the county mental health clinic.

The workshop will be open to the general public.

Event Held At Wellsville

Mrs. John Kozora Wins Bond In Guessing Contest

Women proved to be better guessers than men in the "red tie" contest held at Wellsville in conjunction with the observance of Fire Prevention Week.

Mrs. John Kozora of Wood St. was the first person to name all of the men who wore red neckties during the week to promote the program.

She was presented a $25 Savings Bond by the volunteer fire department.

Nine men wore the ties during the week. They were Mayor William Daugherty, Safety Service Director Fred Baldasare, Ralph Grafton, Charles Donaldson, Jay Williamson, Charles Ewing, George Schmiedmiller, Richard Jones and Fire Chief Robert Lewis.

Each day one of the men served as "fire marshal of the day." The first person to guess who the marshal was each day also received a prize. The winners were Donna McConnell of Clark Ave., Monday; E. R. Warden of Russell Heights, Tuesday; Edna Arbaugh of Maple Ave., Wednesday; Elizabeth Willis of MacDonald Heights, Thursday; Judy Reight of Wellsville R. D. 1, Friday, and Ruth Keay of Russell Heights, Saturday.

The prizes ranged from floral centerpieces to sets of dishes. The prizes were donated by Acme Craftware, Sterling China Co., Wellsville China Co., A. & J. Floral Shoppe and Hillcrest Floral Shop.

Chief Lewis, Asst. Chief Robert Lloyd and Fireman Frank Fusco were in charge of the observance. Lewis said this was the "most successful year" ever.

Pencils were given to each person who attempted to guess the fire marshal each day.

Signs were erected at the various fire plugs, calling atten-

Mishaps Kill 25 Over Ohio On Weekend

By The Associated Press

At least 25 Ohioans met accidental death this weekend.

Traffic accidents claimed 18 lives, 1 man was burned to death and 6 persons died in miscellaneous mishaps.

Three highway collisions took eight lives. Four men died in a three-car smashup Sunday in northeastern Hamilton County and two other crashes killed two persons each.

The miscellaneous accidents included three drownings, a shooting, an electrocution and a freak mishap in which a child was killed when his bicycle fell on him.

The fatalities in Eastern Ohio included:

Jesse Eiben, 49, and his wife, Dorothy, 47, Parkman, drowned when swept over a dam spillway on the Ohio River near Stratton.

Karen Lutz, 10, Northfield Center, when struck by a car near her home.

Dennis Bland, 53, Bellaire, drowned in the Ohio River when he fell off a barge at Bellaire.

David E. Fay and his wife, Barbara, both 34, Columbus, when a sports car missed a curve on Interstate 70 near Kirkerville.

Albert F. Micha, 46, Girard, electrocuted when he apparently lifted a sagging power line of more than 3,000 volts.

Ervin Earl Edwards, 64, Carbondale (Athens County), and Mrs. Heston Starberry, 39, Nelsonville, in a two-car crash on Ohio 93 seven miles south of Jackson.

Sue Ward, 15, Lebanon, struck by a car while standing with a group of teen-agers on Ohio 48 in Ridgeville.

Marion Johnson, 39, Akron, in a crash on Ohio 94 one mile north of U.S. 224 in Medina County.

Alfred Hatton, 20, Painesville, passenger in a car which struck two utility poles in Painesville.

Large Convoy Clears East German Borders

BERLIN (AP)—A large U.S. Army convoy cleared without trouble through the Soviet checkpoint today en route back to West Germany.

The convoy consisted of 26 vehicles with 149 men. It cleared through the checkpoint at Babelsberg, outside West Berlin, in 36 minutes.

It was understood that the troops dismounted to be counted by Soviet officers before proceeding along the 110-mile superhighway connecting the Communist - surrounded city with West Germany.

If a convoy carries an unusually large number of troops, the commander usually lets the Soviets count individually the men as a courtesy to speed up movement. But the convoy the Russians delayed last weekend consisted of only 18 vehicles with 61 men, and the convoy commander refused to let his men dismount and be counted.

More Sunny Weather Expected On Tuesday

That "monotonous" sunny October weather will continue Tuesday.

The Ohio weatherman said today it will be continued sunny and warmer tomorrow, failing to heed Ohio's pleas for rain to help down brush fires and aid parched winter wheat crops.

It will be sunny and warm today, with a high of 68-75. The overnight low will be 39-45.

Sunday's bright, warm weather produced high temperatures in the 80's. It attracted thousands to rural areas to see autumn leaves and sample the fall apple crop. The unusually warm weather was a mixed blessing — it brought a heavy fog to the valley area this morning.

New Kitchen Offers Triple Use

By VIVIAN BROWN

Interior designers seem to be in a conspiracy to make women enjoy their kitchens. Many kitchens are designed so it is difficult to tell where the work begins and the fun stops.

One designed by Joseph Freitag for Frigidaire for the Decoration and Design Show in New York is a three-in-one Oriental style unit that is large enough to permit inviting friends into the kitchen to cook with plenty of space left over for dancing.

And if the friends want to help with the washing, there is a peek-a-boo laundry around a bend that also exudes plenty of eastern charm.

A refrigerator and freezer in the main kitchen serves as a room divider between it and the laundry where there is a copper-toned washer, dryer, sink for pretreatment of washables, wicker slide-out baskets and scenic patterned cabinet doors that close in a folded look.

Freitag loves the tranquility an Oriental look can give a kitchen. He has improvised to achieve it. On the turquoise cabinets there is a carved molding resembling bamboo, accomplished by using a stock 60-cents-a-foot molding. There are Chinese-style floor cabinets with large white brasses.

Dark brown tile was selected to resemble the look of North Chinese clay floors that turn brown with age and waxing. Window shades from floor to ceiling of a homespun texture were treated to vertical stripes of a brown stick-on tape.

There is a bamboo rod at the bottom. Bamboo poles are used as columns and ceiling beams in the main kitchen.

CABINETS IN the serving kitchen are copper, turquoise, black and natural wood. There are burners, oven and work surfaces for the preparation of summer foods.

The wall oven is set in a book case. The cork center aisle table has a chopping block at one end near the refrigerator, electric burners and space for hibachis.

"You can use a two or 10-person hibachi here, building as many fires as you like. And when you are not using this area, you have a table top," Freitag explains.

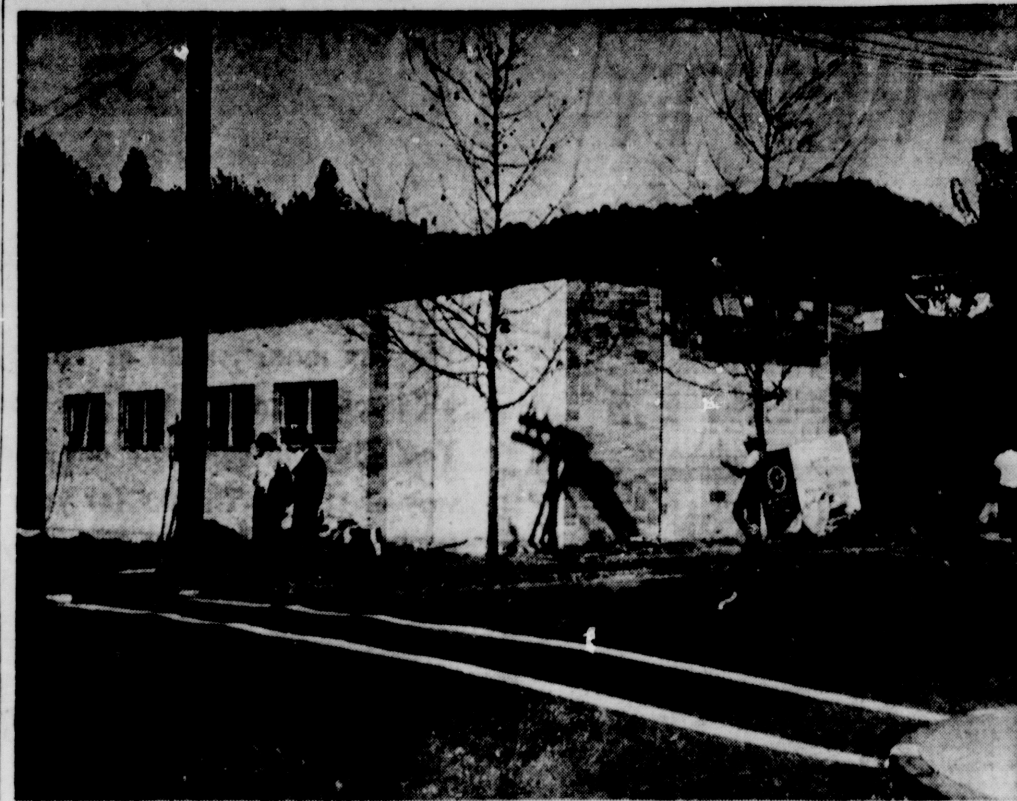

He figures this kitchen can be built in a space as small as 12 by 18 feet for the kitchen and 6 to 12 feet for the laundry. The laundry opens on to a garden, adjacent to a dining room also done in Chinese style.

Freeway's Extension 87 Per Cent Finished

The California Hollow Freeway extension project remains ahead of schedule, with 87 per cent complete, according to the monthly report issued by Earl W. Nelson, Division 11 deputy director for the State Highway Department at New Philadelphia.

The relocation of Route 30 from the city limits to Route 170 near Calcutta is part of the Lake Erie - Ohio River Highway.

In Jefferson County, work has been started on the addition of two more lanes to Route 7 at Empire and Stratton. The length of the project is 1.6 miles and the report shows 17 per cent completion.

WELLSVILLE'S NEW POST OFFICE facility, shown here, is 75 per cent complete, according to Better Homes Investment Corp. of Youngstown, the contractor. The entire building will be ready by Nov. 1, according to a spokesman on the job. The new structure will cost between $110,000 and $120,000. It is concrete block and will have a brick facing over the entire exterior. The structure will be leased to the Post Office when it is completed.

Many Homes Need Better Wiring Plan

By ANDY LANG

Inadequate electrical wiring continues to plague the large majority of home owners throughout the country. The latest estimate is that about 85 per cent of all private houses have wiring systems insufficient to carry the daily burdens placed upon them.

Wiring that does not meet the needs of modern living, with its almost endless list of electrical appliances, produces a number of results.

It causes lights to go dim momentarily when a major appliance is turned on, it shrinks television pictures, it prevents electrical equipment from operating at peak efficiency and it causes frequent blown fuses and tripped circuit breakers.

The blowing of fuses is the most serious result, because all too often fuse replacements are made carelessly.

INSTEAD OF using a fuse of the proper amperage, a larger-sized fuse is installed. Since a fuse is made to fail when an overload is placed upon the circuit, the protection is lost if the proper fuse is not used.

That's one of the causes of burned wires and resultant tragic and costly fires.

Even if the safety factor were not involved, inadequate wiring costs you money. Voltage drops mean that heating appliances take longer to get hot, which in turn means that you use and pay for more electricity.

A motor that burns out long before its normal life might have lasted indefinitely but for the extra work it had to perform to keep the refrigerator or other heavy appliance operating day in and day out even when the voltage was too low.

In some cases, of course, old wiring systems won't even handle certain types of appliances, let alone handle them poorly. Many home owners now have adequate wiring simply because it became a necessity when they installed air conditioning units.

BUT GENERALLY, most persons attempt to struggle along with the old facilities, some of which were built into their homes 20 or 30 years ago.

If and when you get around to updating your home's wiring system, be sure you see that enough outlets are installed. This will eliminate the unsightly and unsafe jumble of plugs often seen in a single outlet.

And don't neglect weather-proof outlets for outdoor use to take the place of many extension cords now strung from inside the house to outside locations. Extension cords are meant for temporary use, not as permanent installations.

Urban Renewal Work In Rochester Cleared

ROCHESTER — A $7 million urban renewal project for the business center of this community has been approved by the Urban Renewal Administration in Washington, Rep. Frank M. Clark of Bessemer announced over the weekend.

Rep. Clark said approval of the Hub Urban Renewal Project clears the way for a public hearing on the project late in November. The Beaver County Redevelopment Authority should be in a position to begin property acquisition early in 1964, he added.

Plans call for construction to begin next July on a complete shopping center and office complex that is expected to create 500 jobs and boost tax revenues 600 per cent. Completion is set for Oct. 1, 1965.

Milan is the chief commercial and financial center of Italy.

Screens Can Be Stored In Cellar Racks

Question: We have our first house and have discovered there are a lot of things we have to learn. One thing bothering us now is how to store our window screens in the basement so that they don't warp or otherwise get ruined until we are ready to hang them again.

The basement is unfinished, with the beams showing. It does not appear to be too damp, but we have been told there is always a certain amount of dampness coming from the concrete floor.

Answer: Those exposed beams make it comparatively easy to construct an inexpensive screen storage area.

Nail vertical strips of wood, about two feet apart, from the beams. If the beams are 16 inches apart or thereabouts, nail the strips opposite each beam which are separated by one beam.

Thus, you would nail, let us say, three vertical strips from one beam; skip the next beam; nail three vertical strips from the third beam. Connect the vertical strips with horizontal strips.

Place a long flat board across the horizontal strips. What you have done is to make a suspended shelf or rack on which the screens then are laid flat. If dampness is a factor, place small strips of wood between the screens to keep them apart and less likely to warp.

If you do not wish to make the storage shelves, you can buy metal hangers to suspend from the beams.

One other bit of advice: most persons put their screens in shape (painting, etc.) just before putting them up. They'll keep better when stored if you do that job before putting them away.

Steel Helped By Car Sales

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sales are booming in the auto industry, which is the nation's No. 1 user of steel, and the construction industry is going great guns.

This, says Steel magazine, is why steel producers are revising their estimates on October shipments.

"Steelmakers who originally figured their October shipments would be 10 per cent higher than September's are predicting a 15 per cent gain," Steel reported.

Auto manufacturers are working extra shifts and are planning to build a near record 792,000 cars this month compared to 723,600 last October, Steel said. "Although automotive steel stocks are still above normal, they're dwindling rapidly. Some car companies may have to place supplemental orders for delivery this month and next."

Steel said unusually good weather is helping the construction industry, and some mills report a spurt in demand for plates, structurals, bearing piles, and reinforcing bars.

In addition, smaller steel consumers are pressing for quick deliveries, "a sure sign that they've completed their inventory adjustments."

Steel said mill products on which prices have been hiked since August account for nearly 35 per cent of the industry's tonnage shipments. "If you add them to the products affected by last April's selective adjustments your total jumps to about 75 per cent."

"Items that haven't been bumped — wire rods, wire products, standard pipe below 24 in. OD, tin plate, tool steels—are the ones that face fierce competition from imported steel and other domestic materials."

Steel production continues its gradual climb. Steel estimated 1,890,000 ingot tons were produced last week, and forecast a slight increase this week, which would make the ninth straight weekly rise in production.

Steel price composite on No. 1 heavy melting grade scrap held at $27 a gross ton last week for the seventh straight week.

Masonry Waterproof Product Now Banned

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Food and Drug Administration warned householders against use of "Ex-33 Water Repellent," a masonry waterproof, "because of the extreme risk of flash fires and explosions."

It said eight injuries and one death have been reported due to Ex-33 explosions. It urged that householders return the product to dealers rather than try to dispose of it themselves.

Trailer Library Serves Schools

BOOKMOBILE BROWSERS. Darrell Hall and Barbara Tomlinson, left, and Pat Brennan and Kerry Jarvis, East Liverpool High School students, inspect racks of the new area bookmobile for some interesting reading.

East Liverpool High School students had a choice of reading material from five tons of paperback books as this "bookmobile" trailer began operations in front of the Central School.

A total of 1,300 different titles are offered, ranging in subject matter from fiction to texts on philosophy and religion.

The unique "traveling book store" is an innovation of the Tri-State News Agency, Inc., owned and operated by Frank Potts, as the first of its kind in this area.

Potts said there are only 18 such units in the United States, the majority of them in Ohio. His is the 16th. The last two are in California.

The 38-x-8-foot trailer is hauled by a truck and will visit various other area schools. It is booked solid through the end of November.

The books are on shelves that extend from the floor to the ceiling.

The idea has been well received by school officials, Potts said. Each school handles the operation. The group or school organization that operates the unit makes a 20 per cent profit on all sales. "The supply is inventoried once each week. Books are offered on literature (American and European), English, anthology, poetry, personal guidance, careers, philosophy, religion, mythology, science, mathematics, astronomy, space, biology, chemistry, physics, social sciences, history, war, psychology, essays, reference works and social science.

Also included is one section devoted entirely to teenage leisure reading. Many teachers are stressing leisure reading in order to lead the students into the regular reading habit.

Carl Pelini, high school principal, said the teachers have gone over the lists of books being offered and all can be used in the high school required reading program.

The trailer will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. daily, except Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 19-20. The public may visit the display.

All students will have an opportunity to check the books at least once, Pelini said.

Pelini said the purpose is to provide an opportunity for students to purchase books and be "exposed to good, interesting, high quality literature."

Funds derived from the sale will be used to provide classroom libraries and audio-visual equipment. The program, on a much smaller scale, has proved successful in the past, Pelini said.

For just the price of a few milkshakes a student can build his own little library.

Prices range from 25 to 25 cents. There are a few higher, but on the overall average, the cost is about 50 cents, Potts said.

Tri-State News in the past set up much smaller displays at the high school for about a week. But only about a third of the titles could be offered.

All the books have been selected by the Bureau of Independent Publishers and Distributors. There are a total of 2,500 titles that have been approved by educators for use in the United States and Canada.

The titles are selected by the American Association of School Librarians and a joint committee of the National Education Association and the American Library Association.

After a two-week stay at Central, the trailer will be moved to Southern Local High School for a week. It then will go on to Wellsville. Potts said it also is slated for stops in schools in Pennsylvania, including Western Beaver High School near Industry.

Battle Pushed To Quell Area Woods Blaze

A brush fire that has burned over 350 acres continued unchecked today in a heavily wooded area below Empire.

State fire fighters and Empire firemen were on the scene over the entire weekend. A tanker truck and a bulldozer were called into play by the state men.

Division firefighters for the State Forestry Division arrived at the scene Sunday and stayed all night, according to Charles R. Heffner of near Wellsville, an investigator and firefighter for the forestry division.

Robert McIntosh of Scio, district director, is in charge of the men.

At one time the fire burned into a section of the Brush Creek Game Reserve, but it was halted before doing much damage.

Several other brush fires were reported in the area over the weekend. Volunteer fire groups were called to battle the blazes.

The fire below Empire broke out Thursday and has burned over a large area right along Route 7 in Knox Township.

Another brush fire broke out early today along Chestnut Grove Ridge near Hammondsville.

Industry Driver Cited In Mishap

An Industry area driver was cited on three charges after his auto left Route 30 near Chester and struck a utility pole Friday at 6:45 p. m.

Hancock County sheriff's deputies cited Charles J. Jackson, 30, of Industry R. D. 1 on charges of driving without an operator's permit, reckless operation and failure to report an accident.

Jackson's westbound sedan was demolished in the crash at Taylor's Bend on the Route 30 Chester Hill.

Bernard E. Messner, 18, of Pittsburgh was cited at 11:15 p. m. Friday when his sedan struck a tree on King's Creek Rd. north of Weirton. His auto also was demolished.

Deputies cited Messner on a charge of failure to have his vehicle under control.

Jackson posted a $150 bond for a hearing tonight before Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland. Messner posted $20, also for a hearing tonight.

Jacob, an early Biblical leader, was famous for his 12 sons and one daughter.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Hi there, sweetie pie! While you are drinking that coffee — and reading this — why not stop a minute, close your eyes and think, "Gee, if only all the bureau drawers in the bedrooms were clean. How wonderful it would be."

Then stop and figure out why they aren't! Clutter? Excess stuff?

"How long would it take and how much energy would it demand if I got up and cleaned them?" (Not much if you do it our way!)

But how? Let me tell you the easy way:

Never try to clean too much in one day. Say to yourself: "I'm going to clean one chest of drawers." This may be a highboy, the dresser or any one object. (Do yours first and save the kids' to last because that is hardest. Wait until they are gone. Never clean their drawers while they are around as they will put all the excess stuff back! I know, I have two!)

You can either turn back the bedspread (or cover it with several thicknesses of newspapers) and remove the entire drawer from the chest. Literally pour everything in it on the bed. Do not pick out things. You want them tumbled (so they will have to be opened — this will give you a chance to look at each article carefully—and then refold). This is a MUST and the only way for good cleaning.

WHILE THE DRAWER is turned upside down, look at the bottom closely (especially in the corners) and see if you can find any "eggs." These will look like specks of pepper or if they're roach eggs, like tiny brown pebbles and they will be soft.

If you see any . . . take our vacuum or a brush and remove them before they hatch! Then paint the bottom and inside of the drawer with a good "bug juice."

When it's dry, turn your drawer over and line it. One can use wall-paper (and this is great because it's not only wide but cheap!), newspaper, brown paper bags, tissue, shelf paper or foil. No use to spend lots of money for lining a bedroom drawer. They are not abused. Christmas wrappings are beautiful.

Now, sit on the edge of the bed, and pull the drawer up close to you. Replace only the BEST of each article first.

Example: If it is your drawer you are cleaning, perhaps you will have brassieres, panties, slips, hose and nightgowns in it.

Pick out your best nightgown. Put that back first, then pick out our second best, hold it up, shake it, look at both sides . . . if it needs mending throw it in the mending pile that you have started. Don't put it back in the drawer. Only put back what is in excellent condition.

NOW IS THE TIME to discard. Do this quickly. Never think too long about any one certain item. If there is the least thing wrong with it . . . put it aside.

You'll probably find old unmated hose, panties with the elastic completely worn out, etc. If you can repair it . . . put it in your mending pile. If you can't, put it in the rag bag.

Do this on down the line until the drawer is clean.

You will be surprised how much will hit the floor in the rag pile and mending pile. Old girdles which are so stretched they no longer do their duty slips that are too long and must be shortened . . . just don't put them back.

Don't think about what you are sorting, throwing away, etc. If you do, you will only get a guilt complex and put it back. This is not cleaning. If you feel guilty, look at the mending pile. (And hope to goodness you get around to it some day, but in the meantime you just might hit a sale and can replace them ever so cheaply! Why clutter up your drawers in the meantime? No need to.)

Besides, I have found that when I cleaned out my husband's and kids' drawers and put all the socks in the mending bag — by the time I got around to mending them I had bought some more on sale and saved more time, energy and sore toes from darns!

In the meantime hubby has said "Honey, I am low on socks, how's about buying some next time you shop!"

DO EVERY DRAWER this way. Don't try to do them all in one day. If you get one chest done . . . have a cup of coffee and enjoy yourself. (Forget the mending bag, because two months from now you will be going through it, and will throw half of it in the rag bag because you will have found you can do without it!)

Ah, it's wonderful to have some clean bureau drawers in the bedroom! You will have a wonderfully clean conscience and peace of mind being able to open a drawer, pull out a bra (with working hooks), hose (that match) and slips that are the right length to just put on and wear without tying a string around the waist, etc! (I know I have.)

When you clean drawers, clean 'em quick. Either be mad, or in a throwing-away mood. If you aren't . . . wait until that day comes. Could it be today? At least go clean one chest. You will love this method.

HELOISE.

Cat Food Might Be Real Bargain To Ohio Woman

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Who says you can't get something for nothing?

Mrs. Doris Dotto of Springfield refuses to believe it, at least until later today when she plans to take her extraordinary discovery to an expert.

Saturday night Mrs. Dotto was opening a can of catfood for her two hungry black cats when she found a mother of pearl imbedded in the tuna.

A mother of pearl is the shell of an oyster.

Mrs. Dotto telephoned several jewelers for advice on what to do. She was told to remove the shell and describe what she saw. It was a grape-shaped, cream colored translucent object which when dropped into a glass of water, sounded hollow.

The jewelers' opinions were favorable, but none would commit himself on the possible value of the pearl until an appraisal is made.

Said Mrs. Dotto: "This could be the greatest value I ever bought at two cans for 29 cents."

Sometimes a boy needs people much more than material things. He needs people who will listen to problems and soothe hurt feelings, people who will explain and reassure and inspire. Our community is lucky to have many people like that: caring for homeless children, watching over the youngsters of working mothers, guiding teen-agers in healthy, wholesome recreation. Please help them carry on this all-important work.

Tigers Blanked By Madonna, 12-0

Held scoreless for the first time this season, Wellsville High's Tigers bowed to Weir-day night at the Weir High Stadium before a slim throng.

The Blue Dons, winning their fourth game against two setbacks, tallied in the second and fourth quarters on short plunges but missed each running conversion meaning one point instead of two in West Virginia play.

Wellsville threatened several times but lacked the punch to move past Madonna's 20 yard line, largely due to fumbles and penalties.

Coach Ken Woods Tigers absorbed their sixth straight defeat and were held scoreless for the first time this season.

Halfback Rich Mahoney tallied both times for Coach Joe Krivak's Dons, on one-yard and two yard plunges.

Bob Gill set up Madonna's first score in reeling off a 54-yard run from the Madonna 16 to the Wellsville 31. Mahoney's touchdown followed a series of ground plays, and the score came with 7:08 left in the second period.

In the final quarter, Wellsville was charged with pass interference at the Tigers' two-yard line and Mahoney plunged over from the one two plays later.

The winless Tigers moved goalward several times but didn't have the muscle to visit the end zone.

The Tigers drove to the Madonna 28 in the first quarter and fumbled. They were at the Madonna 25 in the same period but were penalized 15 yards and forced to punt. In the second quarter, Wellsville was at the Madonna 17 and lost possession of downs. Madonna intercepted a pass to kill one other threat in the second quarter.

Freshman quarterback Chris Thornton completed only three of 19 pass attempts and two were intercepted. But the passer's throws were on the mark most of the time, and were dropped by the receivers.

Thornton presented a Madonna score in the second quarter in running down halfback Gill from behind after a long run. Gill suffered a shoulder injury after Thornton's hard tackle.

Madonna had suffered a 49-6 defeat to Bellaire St. Johns in its last outing, while Wellsville looked impressive in losing to East Liverpool.

Madonna gained 224 yards to Wellsville's 204. Fullback Dale Mobley was quite effective for the Tigers, gaining 104 yards in running.

Wellsville played without the services of left tackle Don Rawlings, who was injured in the Potter game, and tackle Terry Grills.

The Tigers return to action Friday night at home against Salem, and it will be homecoming at Nicholson Stadium. WELLSVILLE 0 0 0 0-0 MADONNA 0 0 0 6-12

Huff's Tribute To Brown

'If He Had Run Any Harder He'd Have Killed One Of Us'

"If he had run any harder, he'd have killed one of us."

Jimmy Brown received that tribute from defender Sam Huff after staying on his record-breaking course Sunday by rambling over, around and career yards and has scored 10 touchdowns this year.

The Browns' victory maintained their one-game hold on the Eastern Conference lead. St. Louis slipped into second with a 24-23 decision over Pittsburgh on Charlie Johnson's 28-yard pass to Bobby Joe Conrad with five seconds remaining and Jim Bakken's conversion.

The Chicago Bears remained the NFL's only other unbeaten team, crushing the Los Angeles Rams 52-14 as Mike Ditka grabbed four touchdown passes. Green Bay's defending league champion Packers remained one game back in the Western Conference race with a 37-28 decision over Minnesota.

Sonny Jurgensen's four touchdown passes carried Philadelphia to a 37-24 triumph over Washington, Dallas whipped Detroit 17-14 for its first victory and Baltimore defeated San Francisco 20-3.

2nd Half Rally Nets 20-8 Margin For Southern Local SALINEVILLE — Fullback John Wilson ignited a second half rally for Southern Local, carrying the Indians to a 20-8 Homecoming victory over Crestview here Saturday night.

The win pulled Coach Lewis Higgenbotham's team to a 3-3 mark.

Following a scoreless first half, Southern Local stepped off a 50-yard drive to the one where Wilson went in for the TD but the Indians missed the conversion.

Crestview bounced back to take an 8-6 lead when Phil Henderson rambled 60 yards for ground, the touchdown then added the two-point conversion.

Early in the fourth period, Wilson put the Indians in front to stay as he busted off tackle, bulled over two defenders and scored 55 yards to the end zone.

Later in the period, following a blocked kick, Ken Dunlap raced 18 yards as he was shaken loose by key blocks from Wilson and halfback Ed Arsuffi.

Southern Local showed a 9-6 edge in first downs and rolled up 212 yards rushing and another 29 passing completing four of eight. Crestview showed a net of 107 yards on the Government positions pay as high as $446.00 a month to start. They provide much greater security than private employment and excellent opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience.

But to get one of these jobs, you must pass a test. The competition is keen and in some cases only one out of five pass.

Lincoln Service helps thousands prepare for these tests every year. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government.

Wisconsin, Texas Lone Survivors

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

That cooling breeze you feel? It's being stirred up by the frantic flapping of football coaches' crying towels the length and breadth of the land.

Only two of the nation's Top Ten college teams — Texas and Wisconsin — won their games in a weekend spiced by the biggest flock of upsets of the season.

Beaten among the elite were No. 1 Oklahoma, No. 3 Alabama, No. 4 Navy, No. 7 Southern Cal and No. 9 Penn State. Ohio State, No. 8, was tied.

Pitt, ranked sixth, and No. 10 Mississippi were a little luckier. They didn't play.

"We could sense this coming all week," said Penn State coach Rip Engle after his team's 10-6 upset at the hands of Army. "We didn't have a good week of practice. They kept us in the hole. We never got anything mounted and that's the way it looked all week in practice."

Coach Bud Wilkinson, whose Oklahoma Sooners were ranked at the top of the heap before they were beaten 28-7 by Texas in the Cotton Bowl, put it more simply: "Texas beat us very badly in every point of the game."

The Longhorns, carried the No. 2 ranking into the game and made a big bid for the top spot with the upset, the sixth straight time Texas has beaten Oklahoma in the old rivalry.

Another big upset was the 10-6 defeat of Alabama by once-beaten, once-tied Florida. It was the first loss at home for Coach Bear Bryant since he took over the Crimson Tide. A 42-yard field goal by Bob Lyle and Dick Kirk's 41-yard dash gave the Gators a 10-0 lead before Bama could get started.

Fourth-ranked Navy touched off the big upset string when the Middies fell before Southern Methodist 32-28 in the Cotton Bowl Friday night.

Notre Dame kept it going by pinning the second loss on Southern Cal's defending national champions, 17-14. Ken Ivan's 33-yard field goal in the final quarter at South Bend gave the Irish their first victory of the season.

Army, beaten by Minnesota the week before, bounced back strongly against Penn State. For the third straight year a Dick Heydt kick proved the difference for the Cadets against the Nittany Lions. His 32-yard field goal was the winning margin.

Ohio State, heavily favored, was lucky to escape with a 20-20 tie with Illinois. Dick Van Raaphorst had to boot a Big Ten record field goal of 49 yards for the Buckeyes in the final two minutes to gain the tie.

Wisconsin, favored to win the Big Ten, remained unbeaten with a 38-20 romp over Purdue. Hal Brandt completed 14 of 22 passes for 196 yards and a touchdown.

In the national television game of the day, Tommy Myers connected on two last period touchdowns to lead Northwestern over Minnesota 15-8.

U.S. Sweeps
Ryder Play
At Atlanta

By MIKE BARRON
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — Will Great Britain, where golf got its start, ever regain its position as the world's golf leader from the United States?

It doesn't seem likely in the wake of the American team's sweeping 23-9 victory in the 15th biennial Ryder Cup competition between the two countries.

The U.S. team, called invincible by its proud captain Arnold Palmer, shook off morning doldrums each day in the three-day match.

Britain tied the Yanks 8-8 in the morning matches, but lost the afternoon contests 15-1. The lone British point in the afternoon matches came on two draws, with the U.S. winning the rest.

Palmer said he thought the larger American ball made the difference. "On Sunday it was windy and the small ball favored them," he said. "But over-all in the three days the big ball was superior."

Palmer said the tournament he had been in from the standpoint of cooperation. "I'm tremendously proud of all our guys," he said. "For example Johnny Pott wasn't playing well and he asked to be benched. That's real cooperation."

The 1963 PGA top money winner suggested that 36 holes a day for three days is too much golf. "I think it would be better if they spread it out over four days," he said.

This year the tournament, played at East Lake Country Club where golf's immortal Bob Jones got his start, introduced the Scotch foursome matches for the first time. In this type of match, each player on the team hits alternate shots on each hole.

The British startled the Americans by defeating Palmer in the opening match on Friday.

Brian Huggett and George W. Nicklaus and George W. Nicklaus and George W. Nicklaus beat Palmer and Pott, 3-2, in a Scotch foursome. Palmer, who teamed with Dow Finsterwald for two victories on Saturday, lost to Englishman Peter Alliss in a morning match Sunday.

Billy Casper was the big American winner, figuring in four victories.

Attitude Is Different

Jim Brown Says Change
Of Policy Big Difference

NEW YORK (AP) — What is the difference between the fantastic Jimmy Brown of 1963 and the sub-par Jim Brown of 1962?

"I'm the same guy," Brown said Sunday after Cleveland's 35-24 victory over the New York Giants. "The team is different, especially in attitude. It's the change of policy. Now all of us have the respect for each other."

"You don't just do your job and then sit down and wait for the movies and say 'Well I did what I was supposed to do.'"

Now you make suggestions, you participate. It is more like a family."

Jimmy didn't mention Paul Brown, his old coach, by name. He did point out that Blanton Collier, his new coach, gave him new freedom of decision.

"I like to run outside and I like to run inside," he said. "And I like the two-way go (option). I never had that before. Now I'm not just a full-back who just hits up the middle."

Brown ripped the proud Giants' defense to shreds Sunday afternoon, gaining 123 yards on 23 carries and 86 more on four pass catches for a total of 209.

Because the league statisticians call a screen pass a passing play and not a run, Brown must wait another week to top the National Football League's all time rushing record. He has 8,246. Joe Perry of San Francisco went into Sunday's game with Baltimore with a record 8,296 yards.

Snead Teams
To Win Title
At Queen City

CINCINNATI (AP) — It took the old pro, Sam Snead, to show the young insurgents how to win big in the fourth Cincinnati Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament.

Snead and his partner, amateur Ed Tutwiler from Charleston, W. Va., fired their way to 12-under-par Sunday, then coasted in for a 67 that joined Saturday's 63 for a 130.

That was three strokes better than the nearest opposition, a cluster of three teams including the defending champions, Jack Nicklaus and Pandel Savic of Columbus.

Snead picked up top prize of $3,000 in the $17,500 event, and Tutwiler took home a silver serving set.

Snead was under two - way pressure Sunday — to keep his first day lead and get away in time for a 6:10 p.m. jet flight to Los Angeles from Cincinnati Airport. His solution: Hire a helicopter. Snead didn't finish until nearly 5:30 p.m., and the chopper dropped in at the 18th green.

Nicklaus and Savic finished with 68-65—133, matching the score of pro J. C. Goosie and Jack Veghte of Largo, Fla., and veteran Vic Ghezzi, Jamaica, N. Y., and amateur Mort Olman of Cincinnati.

Gordie Howe
Needs 1 Goal
For New Mark

By The Associated Press
Tireless Gordie Howe, hockey's answer to Stan Musial, has moved to within one goal of one of the National Hockey League's most cherished records.

The 35-year-old winger for the Detroit Red Wings scored his third goal of the season Sunday night in Detroit's 3-0 blanking of Boston. It was his 543rd in regular season play and left him just one short of Rockette Richard's lifetime mark.

Chicago beat the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-2 in the only other Sunday game and took over a share of the lead with Detroit, each with four points.

In Saturday games, Montreal blasted New York 6-2 and Toronto crushed Boston 5-1.

Howe, now in his 18th season in the NHL and the defending scoring champion, opened with two goals in the first game and put the puck in the net twice Sunday. One of them, however, was disallowed.

OFF THE RECORD

"They're going to spoil that child—She only asked for a pussycat."

How Can I?
By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I mix a wallpaper paste?

A. Add one tablespoon of powdered alum to one quart of water. Sift flour into the water, stirring constantly until it has acquired the consistency of dough. Then pour in boiling water until the paste turns, then dilute to the desired consistency. If a little creosote or carboric acid is added, it will prevent decomposition.

Q. What can I do about some of my silverware which eggs have darkened?

A. These dark egg stains can be removed with moist salt. Finish by washing in ammonia water.

Q. How can I prepare a good Welsh rarebit?

A. Melt a tablespoon of butter over a low flame. Add a cup of grated cheese. As it melts, add 1/4 cup of beer. Add 1/2 teaspoon of dry mustard, and a dash of cayenne to a well-beaten egg. Add to the cheese-beer mixture, stir well, and cook one minute longer.

Q. How can I preserve soft rubber goods?

A. Suspend these articles, or rest them on a rack, several inches from the bottom of their enclosure, in which place a small quantity of kerosene. The vapor will prevent cracking without injuring the rubber.

Q. How do I wash organdy curtains?

A. Soak white organdy, dimity, or net curtains in lukewarm water before washing. Even the most immaculate housekeeper will be surprised at the amount of dirt that has accumulated in the sheer curtains in a short period of time. Lift the curtains out carefully, and drain off the dirty water. Wash in heavy lukewarm suds made with gentle soapflakes, rinse thoroughly, and roll into towels. Iron when partly dry.

Junior Editors Quiz on GUNS

QUESTION: How did machine guns develop from the regular kind?

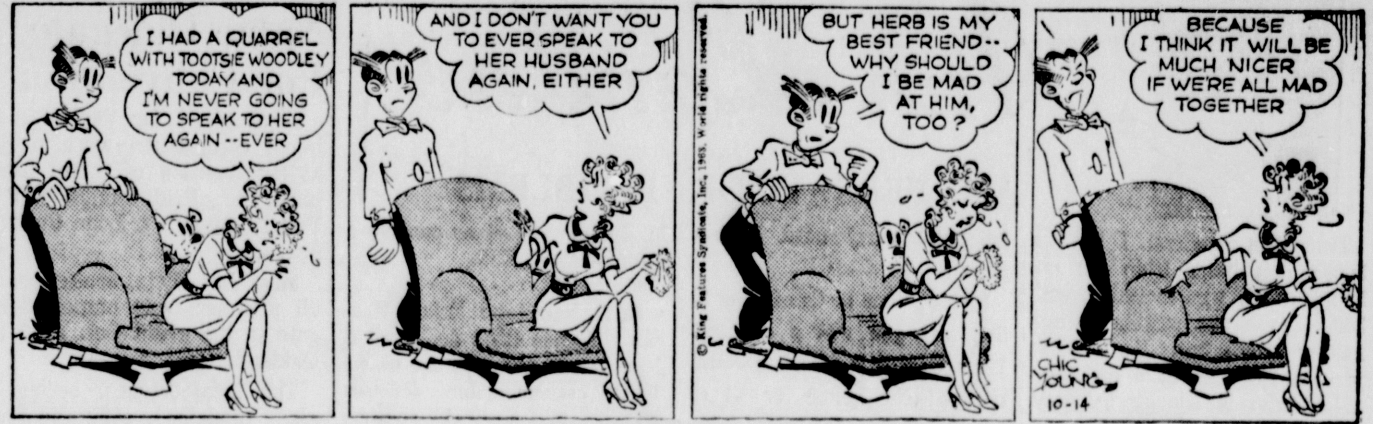

ANSWER: Each time you pull the trigger on an ordinary gun, you fire just one shot. But when you press a machine gun's trigger a spray of bullets will rattle out one after the other without having to pull the trigger for each one. Machine guns can fire up to 1,500 shots a minute.

During the 1500s, experiments were made by tying a number of single shot guns together so they could be fired in series or all together. But this idea did not turn out to be successful until improved into the Gatling gun, which we illustrate. The modern machine gun started in 1889, when Hiram Maxim got the idea of using the recoil from the explosion in a gun barrel to cock the gun, throw out the empty cartridge and insert a new one. This made it possible for a single barrel to throw out a spray of bullets, one right after the other. Another type of machine gun was operated by gasses flowing in through a small port. The heavy machine gun was a type widely used in World War I. Lighter, more portable machine guns were developed later, such as the submachine gun and the Browning automatic rifle. The M15 automatic rifle is an even more recent development of this type.

FOR YOU TO DO: Get a pile of small rocks and see how many you can fire one after the other in 10 seconds. Get a friend to count the seconds while you count shots. Then multiply the number by six to get the number per minute and compare this to the machine gun's speed of between 400 and 1,500 shots a minute.

Bill Bonillas of Petaluma, Calif., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you too may win a set.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I have a hunch that letter from the unhappy widow who moved in with her children was written by my mother-in-law. I'd like to present the case of a daughter-in-law who is equally unhappy.

Do widowed mothers realize when they are invited to move in that they are being offered a home, and not the position of chairman of the board?

My mother-in-law has been with us only five months and already I am developing ulcers. She tells the children what to wear, how to speak and with whom to associate.

She still calls my husband "Sonny," which burns me up—and she has taken to making special dishes for him. According to her, "Nobody cooks like a boy's mother."

My husband and I used to get along beautifully. Now we are arguing—and all the arguments are about his mother. So you see, Ann, she is not the only one who is miserable. Now, how do I tell her to move without alienating my husband forever?—ALSO MISERABLE.

Dear Miserable: When a third party—be it mother, mother-in-law, uncle, cousin or whoever—presents a threat to a marriage, the third party must be removed.

Inviting your mother-in-law to live with you was a mistake. The sooner it is admitted—and rectified—the better for all of you.

Safe And Sound

Dear Ann: I've been dating a man for almost a year. We plan to be married in a few months. My fiancé lives at home with his folks. His father had a house guest for several days and the guest shared my fiancé's bedroom. Yesterday the guest left and my boy friend told me something which has made me a nervous wreck.

This guest supposedly was invited to stay with them and recuperate from an operation in an Army hospital but the truth is that he was recently discharged from a leprosarium.

I love my boy friend and I want to marry him but he has been living with a leper for a week and seeing me at the same time. Maybe I already have caught the loathsome disease. Perhaps I already have passed it on to members of my family.

Please tell me what to do. But don't print my name, initials or city because my friends and family will be just as panicky as I am.—NAMELESS.

Dear Nameless: Relax. Hansen's disease (they don't call it leprosy any more) is one of the least communicable diseases known to medical science. Many wives who visited their husbands in the leprosarium in Carville, La., have tried to get the disease so they, too, might be incarcerated—but not one has succeeded.

No patient is released from a leprosarium in an infectious state. The man who shared your fiancé's room was probably less of a threat to his health than most of the people he encounters during his working day.

The Best Reason

Dear Ann: I'm a 16-year-old girl who is going with a very nice guy. Ted and I are not going steady—just steadily.

Last week Ted bought me a ring with a small diamond as a symbol of our friendship. When my square old man saw it he hit the roof. He said that where he comes from, a ring with a diamond, no matter how small, means engagement and he ordered me to give it back.

Several of my girl friends are wearing rings and I don't see any reason why I shouldn't be allowed to. Do you?—BABY FOREVER.

Dear Baby: Yes, I see one darned good reason. Your father doesn't approve of it. Now give it back.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
